WEEK of the greatest January selling which we have ever experienced paves the way to even greater reductions because of our determination to quickly dispose of many lines of winter goods which are still further broken by the wonderful responses to our announcements. Thus we come to the most interesting feature of this great sale—the final selling of the odds and ends. From the various small lots left in every department we have made up these assortments, and every article marked for clearance must go this week, regardless of the sacrifice.

STATE TREASURER ISSUES STATEMENT

Say He Is Merely Obeying Law in Refusing to Cash Warrants Without Appropriations.

BLAMES GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

chares Last Legislature Should Have Made Provision for Preseat Conditions-Awaits Fair Popular Judgment.

BY TAFF CORRESPONDENT goon City. Mo., Jan. 21 - State Treasurer Gmelich to-day issued a statement to the citizens of Missouri in explanation of the stand he has taken on refusing to each warrants before appropriation bills have been passed by the General As-observe the Constitution and e criticism had been made of his attitude, he says:

Dave been advised by a very comperney that the General Assembly nike provisions for just such an rhoumatism and heart trouble. ency. Now if that he true and the seneral Assembly would have exertits lawful power and duty and endited appropriating money for the Atan appropriating money for the seneral Assembly and late officers during the months of this General Assembly and late officers during the months of the late officers during the months of the late officers during the months of the late officers.

The whole trouble grows out of the neglect of the General Assembly to make the appropriation which they had a right to make and which experience suggested they ought to make. NO GROUND FOR CRITICISM There seems to be no reasonable ground

o condemn or criticise a State officer who announces that he will conduct his office in a lawful and constitutional manner, and refuses to violate his oath and forfelt his bond and his office merely to accommodate friends and citizens who are temporarily embarrassed on account of failure of the General Assembly to make timely appropriations.

As this is no new condition, but has often existed before, I think it better that State officers now shall stand up for due observance of the law, and in that way bring the attention of the General Assembly to the necessity of making proper appropriations and provision for the faiture.

It will be a simple thing for the present General Assembly to prevent any recurrence of this trouble by timely appropriation for the next period.
